POSITION SUMMARY

The Hybrid Program Director works collaboratively with the School's leaders, and third-party vendors to develop, implement, and administer a high-quality hybrid JD degree program. This position ensures that the pedagogy for all online educational initiatives is sound, consistent with the School's curricular values and principles, and in compliance with the requirements, standards, policies, and procedures identified as best practices for distance education. This position ensures online/hybrid learners are given the holistic support they need in order to succeed by facilitating collaboration between online/hybrid students and student support and other university services. This position will maintain awareness of best practices, emerging technologies and new potentials in educational technology that may be adopted as new and emerging instructional media, technologies, pedagogies and practices. Collaborate with Institutional Research to track retention, persistence, and program completion rates; prepare reports; and recommend implementation of strategies to support growth in these areas. This position is responsible for the hiring, management, and oversight of JD hybrid faculty. This position will work closely with the School's CEO, Executive Director, Dean, and Registrar to ensure that all processes are integrated and efficient. This position also tracks compliance with all School deadlines, works to ensure accreditation standards are met, and produces reports as required.
